THEY EXPECT TO END TARIFF REPORTS FROM SOUTHWESTERN COUNTRY DEMONSTRATE HEAVY LOSSES.

Corporation Tax Amendment is At Kansas City—Very Bad at Des Moines And in Different Parts of Kansas and Missouri.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—When the senate met today there was a general understanding that the vote on the tariff bill should be taken before any adjournment.

The corporation tax amendment as perfected by the finance committee was agreed to after many attempts to change it had been defeated.

The senate accepted Senator Bradley's amendment permitting tobacco growers to sell their products without the payment of a tax.

The stupendous work of the session will, however, all be done in the conference committee room in the House office building. This conference committee has to harmonize the Payne bill of the senate and, with so many radical differences it will be a gigantic task.

The committee have not been appointed and it is impossible to tell exactly who will serve on this all-important joint committee.

Of course Senator Aldrich will select the committee to represent the senate and speaker Cannon and Representative Payne will select those to represent the house.

Speaker Cannon has suggested that as large a membership as possible be given to the conference committee in order to exercise the greatest influence in the house.

Aldrich at first thought that seven members, four republicans and three democrats, from each side, would be sufficient. But it had been urged upon him that nine members of each house, five republicans and four democrats, or a total, when the committees meet and organize, of ten republicans and Madison, Wis., July 8.—Members of the geological department staff at the University of Wisconsin are to study rock formations in widely distributed portions of the continent this summer, including Alaska, Labrador, the Hudson Bay district, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Michigan and Minnesota.

Prof. C. K. Leitch is on a geological expedition to Labrador, and the Hudson Bay district accompanied by Hugh M. Roberts, a junior in the general engineering course at the university from Superior, Francis S. Adams, a graduate student from Deerwood, Minn., and his brother, A. T. Leitch, a geologist from Washington, D. C.

Prof. Lawrence Martin, accompanied by E. P. Dean, '09, of Zearing, Ia., and Prof. R. S. Tarr of Cornell, will have charge of a scientific expedition to Alaska for the National Geographical society of Washington, D. C., for the purpose of studying the Yucatan Bay and Prince William Sound glaciers.

The party sailed from Seattle June 16, and will be gone some fourteen weeks, returning about Sept. 22, in time for the opening of the university session.

A topographer from the U. S. Geological Survey to make precise maps of glaciers and glaciated regions, as well as measurements of the rate of ice movements and soundings of fiords, will join the party with a photographer and assistants.

Prof. Martin spent much time in 1901 and 1905 studying glaciers in Alaska and the Montana Rockies.

Prof. Ellet Blackwelder, with John W. Becker, '09, Chicago, and John M. Jessup, '10, Madison, is spending the summer on U. S. Geological survey work in Idaho and Utah. W. J. Mead and Charles T. Kirk, fellow in geology, are to be in Butte, Mont., and in northern Michigan, while Orville W. Wheelwright, '01, Belleville, now a graduate student, is in northern Michigan, and Edward Steidman of the mineralogy department is in northern Minnesota.

W. J. BRYAN GAVE TALK TO THE ENDEAVORERS

"Silver-Tongued Orator" Spoke at Patriotic Exercises Held in St. Paul Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Paul, Minn., July 8.—Ten thousand enthusiastic young men and women congregated upon the steps and lawn of the Minnesota State Capitol late this afternoon, and after joining in a program of patriotic songs listened to a stirring address on patriotism by William J. Bryan.

The demonstration was the crowning event of the second day of the international convention of Christian Endeavorers.

The thousands of delegates began the day, as they did yesterday, with devotions. Morning prayer-meetings were held in a score of churches.

From 7:15 until 8:30 o'clock quiet hour services were held in the Central Presbyterian church, under the leadership of Rev. Floyd D. Tompkins of Philadelphia.

At ten o'clock the auditorium was again the great objective point of the crowd. An hour before the doors of the great hall opened several thousand persons were singing Endeavor songs while they waited on the sidewalks outside.

President Francis E. Clark occupied the chair at the auditorium rally and the speakers included John Willis Baer of Los Angeles, Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow of Washington, D. C., and Rev. Henry F. Cope, secretary of the Religious Education association.

A simultaneous meeting was held in the Central Presbyterian church, where a large and enthusiastic audience assembled to listen to addresses on the subject of "Christian Endeavor Fundamentals," delivered by Rev. W. E. Richardson, D. D., of Kansas City, Rev. Samuel McNaughton of Boston, Rev. Ernest H. Tippest of Montreal, Walter H. Coperly, president of the Illinois Christian Endeavor Union, and others.

By an official edict Mayor Daniel W. Lawler has directed that a huge electric "Welcome" blaze from the city hall tower each night while the young people are in the city. The new Minnesota capital is electrically illuminated by night and all public buildings are gaily decorated with flags and miles of colored bunting in the breezes. Western delegations are prominent in the preliminary events of the week and promise to become the center of much interest, both for their progressive broadness and their manifest disposition to get into touch with the east and strengthen existing bonds of friendship.

Local committees have partitioned the city and are apportioning the headquarters of the arriving delegations to such sections with reference to the portion of the United States they represent. The grouping of eastern, western, northern, southern and foreign delegations in this manner is proving of great value in making it easy for strangers to find friends or to visit delegates from distant portions of the country or foreign lands.

The music of convention week is the great feature of all the general meetings. The opening sessions witness an orchestra of fifty pieces, supported by 500 voices, leading the song services which are an important feature of the meetings, while trained singers who have been drilled for weeks are handling the music at the hundred other meetings of subordinate character, well held and to come.

For the huge Thursday evening song service on the new capital lawn an immense stand has been erected from which William Jennings Bryan will speak. Mr. Bryan will also address a noon meeting on Thursday at the Metropolitan theatre.

The Endeavorers' tented city has sprung up like a mushroom and on a vacant square near the new capital where the ground was bare forty-eight hours ago, there are hundreds of perfectly appointed tents where every convenience will minister to the comfort of those unable to find hotel accommodations because of the crowds.

A corps of physicians and nurses has been established and their work apportioned, and in addition to reservations of space to be held in case it should be needed at all the large city hospitals, a special Endeavorers' hospital is ready for business. Physicians and nurses have been detailed to attend all the important sessions where large attendances are predicted to care for any who may need their services.

Weather conditions are perfect. Saint Paul greets the Endeavorers with a blue sky and a breeze, while the temperature is very moderate and promises to remain so without excessive heat. The weather bureau predictions are for settled fair weather.

The Endeavorers have escaped the summer's first hot spell, and bid fair to enjoy an intermediate period of perfect sun and temperature.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER CELEBRATES EVENT IN QUIET WAY.

IS THE RICHEST MAN LIVING

His Income in 1904 Was Only $2 a Second—His Present Fortune About $700,000,000.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

John D. Rockefeller was born near Oswego, N. Y., July 8, 1839.

At the age of eight years he milked the cows on his father's farm.

Went to Cleveland at thirteen and left school at sixteen. Began to work in 1855 as clerk and bookkeeper at $12.50 a month.

At nineteen he asked for $300 a year salary and was refused.

Borrowed $2,000 without security and started in the commission business.

Borrowed more money and went into the oil refining business.

In 1872 he controlled one-fifth of the refining business of the United States.

In 1876 he organized the Standard Oil company with $1,000,000 capital.

Organized the Standard Oil trust in 1882 and dissolved it in 1892.

At the age of seventy his wealth is estimated at nearly $800,000,000.

If he should live to be one hundred years old and his wealth should increase at the present ratio, his fortune then will amount to $25,732,000,000.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, 70 YEARS OLD TODAY, AS HE APPEARS AT HOME AT CLEVELAND, O.

He is the richest man in the world, reached the biblical "three score and ten" years today and celebrated the event quietly and with unobtruded frugality by playing golf on the recently completed new golf links on his magnificent estate, Forest Hill.

At sixty Mr. Rockefeller was an old man of rather feeble health; but careful diet and exercise did wonders for him and now, at seventy, he is almost as fresh and rugged as other men at fifty and his physician, Dr. Paul Allen, has expressed the opinion that Mr. Rockefeller has every prospect of reaching the age of one hundred years.

Fortunes, properly and judiciously invested, have the peculiar habit of increasing at a rate which increases in proportion with the increase of the fortune. Mr. Rockefeller's fortune is not an exception. The largest portion of it is invested in Standard Oil stock, which is worth now in the neighborhood of $700 a share, while the rest is invested in railroad, steel and bank stocks of the most profitable description. His holdings of Standard Oil stock alone are estimated at $175,000,000, about 25% of the total amount of stock of the company.

How profitable these holdings alone are may be inferred from the fact that the total net earnings of the company in 1908 reached a total of about $80,000,000, nearly one half of which was paid out in dividends to the stockholders, while the rest was added to the surplus, which is now estimated at about $275,000,000. Accepting $700,000,000 as a conservative estimate of Mr. Rockefeller's present fortune, investigators eight democrats, would be more apt to secure the adoption of the tariff bill.

In the past it has been customary to select the conference committee from the finance committee in the senate and the ways and means committee in the house.

The finance committee consists of fourteen senators, from which the committee of representatives will undoubtedly be chosen. They are:

Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, Julius C. Burrows of Michigan, Eugene Hale of Maine, Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts,

Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota, Reed Smoot of Utah,

Frank R. Flint of California, John W. Daniel of Virginia, Fernando B. Money of Mississippi, Joseph W. Bailey of Texas,

James P. Tallaferro of Florida, F. M. Simmons of North Carolina.

Senator Aldrich will necessarily be on the committee. It is conjectured that Senator Lodge, Senator Smoot, Senator Hale and Senator Burrows will form the balance of the republican members of the committee, and Senator Daniel and Senator Bailey will represent the democratic side of the senate.

The ways and means committee furnishes a larger field for speaker Cannon to select from. Senator Payne is about the only sure guess at this time, although it is pretty certain John D. Rockefeller, Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, Oscar Underwood of Alabama, E. J. Hill of Connecticut, Samuel McCall of Massachusetts, James M. Briggs of Georgia and Champ Clark, the minority leader, will among the chosen.

two thousand persons were rendered temporarily homeless, with property loss estimated at a million and a half dollars, six persons drowned, two others injured and railway traffic to the north, west and south of Kansas City demoralized.

Thousands of acres of rich farming land and miles of railway tracks inundated are some of the summaries of the flood situation in Missouri and Kansas up to this afternoon. Eight dead and the injured were those reported yesterday.

The greatest suffering today was at Springfield, Mo., and Ottawa, Kansas. Both these towns were practically submerged by the sudden overflow of local streams.

WILL STUDY CLAMS OF THE ROCK RIVER

Government is Investigating the Possibility of Culture of the Beds.

During the present summer Professor Jonathan Riser of Beloit college is to make a survey and study of the clam beds of the Rock river, starting in at Chester, near the source of the river.

The investigation is to be made for the United States Fisheries bureau to whom Prof. Riser will report. The government has forwarded a boat and equipment for the Beloit men and is following the investigation with interest.

It seems that the pearl button manufacturers are fearful lest their supply of clams should give out and Prof. Riser is to discover the number of clams, the varieties, and the conditions of river bottom, food, and so forth, under which they thrive best.

Near Janesville are several large beds of clams and in the early days the Indians used them for food, building their summer homes near the location of a large bed. One at Fulton is well defined and others nearer the city have been looked over by ambitious pearl-hunters.

Professor Riser's work may also develop some good pearl beds as well. John Young of Broadhead, who is one of the largest dealers in fresh water pearls, is of the belief that just as fine pearl clams will be found in the Rock river as the Mississippi and has bought several that have been found near Monterey by successful fishermen.

GENERAL DELAY IN THE APPOINTMENTS

Naming of New Deputy Game Wardens Fixed Under the Recent Law Awaits Davidson's Return.

Janesville is interested in a possible change in the deputy game wardenship of Rock county under the new state law. Peter Drafahl, the present warden, has held his office since the department was first organized and has consequently made many warm enemies by his hostilities to conformation of the state laws as regards fishing and hunting. In the reorganization of the entire state department it is understood that many now deputies are to be named and that among those who will be replaced will be Drafahl. This cannot be verified, however, and it will not be until the appointments are made public. Friends of Officer "Bully" Mason are urging his claims to the position and it is possible that he may secure the appointment. Warden Rickerman, of Racine, who was recently appointed head of the department, is at work now reviewing the claims of the different applicants and it is understood, is ready to make his appointments as soon as Governor Davidson returns from his outing on the lakes to sign the necessary papers.

NO APPOINTMENT AT SCHOOL FOR BLIND

State Board Of Control Has Not Yet Reappointed Harvey Clark Or Named His Successor.

Contrary to usual custom the state board of control has as yet made no appointments for the State Institute for the blind and has neither named Harvey Clark, present superintendent, to succeed himself or appointed a successor. It is known that the investigation which was conducted at the school just before it closed by the board has something to do with the delay but whether it will mean that Mr. Clark is to be reappointed and a new man named or not remains to be seen. It is understood that several of the present teaching force of the school have been notified that their services will not be required next year owing to the differences between pupils and teachers and Superintendent Clark and his wife, who was matron of the school. This matter has been brought to the attention of the Governor and it is understood that he has promised either another investigation or that he will reappoint Clark, but it is not known how the investigation of the investigation was held. The state board of control was recently reorganized and this may change the workings of the board. The old board it is said completely cleared Mr. Clark of the complaints made against him. It is said that as a result of the trouble at the school many of the pupils will not return.

DESIRE TO OPERATE MYERS ANNEX SALOON

Michael Connolly and James Boylan, Bartenders, Make Application for a License.

A license to run the saloon on East Milwaukee street known as the Myers Annex, having been refused to George Clark, on the claim that Clark was securing it only that William Hoskins might run it, it is now reported that two Janesville bartenders, Mike Connolly, who has been working for Hoskins, and James Boylan, employed by P. J. Kane, will apply for a permit to run the place.

There is a question as to whether or not the mayor will sign the license granted by the council at the last meeting to William Carroll. The application was granted to Carroll by the city clerk by a vote of 7 to 3. This member, if the mayor refuses to sign it, and he will either have to do that or return it to the council saying that he declines to sign it, at the next regular meeting, will be sufficient. If the council desires to pass it over the mayor's veto, Mr. Carroll meanwhile is barred from operating until the license is signed or granted over the veto. The mayor has declined to state just what will be his action in regard to the matter.

Against the $500 license money paid by Carroll an attachment has been secured by P. A. Taylor, co-builder, for the amount of $80.45, said to be due on a note. Attorneys express the opinion that as this money is in the city's possession, this attachment can not hold good. Carroll claims that the note was paid, but that the receipt for the payment has been lost.

TALK OF INVITING STATE ENCAMPMENT

Members of Harry L. Gifford Camp, Spanish War Veterans, Would Like 1911 Meeting Here July 4th.

Members of the Harry L. Gifford Camp of the United Spanish War Veterans who have returned from the big meeting at Fond du Lac are most enthusiastic over the possibility of holding the 1911 gathering in Janesville. Under the constitution of the order the state encampments are held on July Fourth each year and the celebration of the Nation's birthday is likewise observed. There are twenty camps in the state association with a possibility of there being forty within a year.

Under the new provision as to delegates it would mean that some four hundred delegates would be in attendance. This year as part of the celebration a sham battle was held at the fair grounds in which one regiment of Wisconsin state militia, the Second, one battery of artillery and one troop of cavalry participated. Some twenty thousand people witnessed the affair, which was one of the most successful ever held. Next year the convention goes to Sheboygan.

In speaking of the plan to have it come to Janesville the following year, Edward Fetter, who returned last evening, said: "Janesville can have the encampment in 1911 if they want it. Counting as it does on the Fourth of July it would be a raising big celebration. Of course it costs lots of money to successfully handle a big gathering like this, but Janesville has the reputation for entertaining crowds and the convention was offered us for next year. In view of the fact that there was a celebration here this year and we had not had time to discuss the matter with the businessmen of the city, we did not accept the offer, but we can get the next year's encampment easily."

"While there were twenty thousand people in the park at the sham battle there were thousands of others in the city who did not go to the fight. It would be safe to say that located at Janesville there would be even more people here for such a celebration than in Fond du Lac. Then, too, it lasts more than one day and aside from the delegates there are many members of the different state camps that attend these reunions and march in the parade.

"Perhaps we will be able to arouse enough interest in the matter to arrange for such an affair. The regular Fourth of July program could be carried out as it was both in Fond du Lac and in Racine the year before, and with Janesville so near to Chicago, where the veterans are very strong, and to Rockford, where they have a good camp, it would be a big drawing card."

NEW ENGINES ON EXHIBIT IN MILWAUKEE NOW

Those engineers who have the good fortune to run into Milwaukee have doubtless had the pleasure of seeing some of the new engines which are being constructed in the Milwaukee shops for service on the Pacific Coast Extension.

These new engines, of the type known as L.I. have in all twenty wheels, and according to Engineer Schlecker who saw some of them on the way to the coast, are about the finest looking engines in the country. Twenty of them, each of the simple Mikado type, with four sets of drive wheels, and each weighing 115,000 pounds, were shipped Tuesday for service in the Butterroot, Rocky and Cascade Mountains.

The Monomach Valley shops at Milwaukee, where these engines are being constructed, have during the past few years experienced a steady growth until at the present time they afford employment for 5,500 men, turn out forty-six cars every day, and ten engines of the latest model every month. Nearly fifty passenger coaches are in the shops for repairs at all times.

ENGINE'S RECORD IS ONE OF BEST ON DIVISION

Engine 775, which has recently been sent to the house for repairs to her cylinder, has an enviable record. Since last fall the 775 has been on all 77,000 miles or 286 miles a day, and during all that time has not been in the shops for repairs.

INCOME TAX AMENDMENT

Article XVI. The congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes from whatever source derived without apportionment among the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration.—Proposed senate amendment to the constitution.

It is now more than thirty-nine years since the latest amendment to the constitution of the United States was proclaimed on March 30, 1870.

That was the negro citizen amendment, making the fifteenth modification the people of the United States have seen fit to add to the original constitution. Among these fifteen amendments only one of them relates in any way to financial matters. That is the part of the XIVth amendment defining the validity of the public debt of the United States. It formed one of the issues arising out of the question of slavery.

Practically all of these fifteen articles of amendment are occupied with the definition of the rights of the citizens and the states against the power of congress. This of course does not apply to article XII in which the presidential elections are regulated. The record goes to show that the defense of rights of persons has been deemed for greater importance than the control of the government over property, even when taken according to due process of law.

The new income tax amendment as proposed for submission to the states, is a great departure. The constitution provides two ways for inauguration of amendments. Two-thirds of both houses may propose; or, two-thirds of the state legislatures, having applied to congress for amendment of the constitution, congress shall call a convention. Congress is now, at the President's suggestion, supporting a fundamental change from the historic system of raising public revenues in providing a constitutional amend-by these revolting conditions of crime whose accounts are being paraded day by day in horrid detail through the columns of the press before the eyes of a wearied and morbiddly curious public.

IMPURE MILK IS BLAMED FOR TUBERCULOSIS SPREAD

Nathan Straus, New York Philanthropist, Tells of Discoveries by American Scientists.

Stockholm, July 8.—The eighth international tuberculosis conference today listened to a report on the investigations of American scientists, under the direction of Nathan Straus, the New York philanthropist, have investigated tuberculosis in milk.

The paper by the New York philanthropist was presented by Dr. Arthur H. H. Green, medical director of the Straus pasteurized milk work, and one of the American delegates. It disclosed for the first time the overwhelming evidence gathered by the American investigators to show the responsibility of milk from tuberculous cows for the infection of human beings with tuberculosis.

After carefully summing up the results of milk investigation by which the Koch error of 1901 was refuted and a large percentage of cases traced to milk, Mr. Straus' paper continued:

"The proof of the correctness of pasteurization of milk as a life-saving measure has been rounded out by Dr. Joseph H. Kastle, chief of the division of chemistry of the hygiene laboratory, who has shown that the process, as recommended by the United States public health service, does not impair the ferments or enzymes contained in fresh milk, does not alter the chemical composition of milk, does not lessen its food value, either as to nutrition or digestibility, and does not alter its taste or physical qualities.

"This method of destroying the tubercle bacilli in milk, not thoroughly proved and justified by science, has been practically vindicated by my 18 years' experience in supplying pasteurized milk for the babies in New York and other cities in America and abroad. The result has been that wherever pasteurization has been introduced in cities having excessive infant death rates, the mortality among the babies has been reduced one-half.

"In view of all these facts that I have briefly summarized, the tuberculosis problem resolves itself largely into a milk problem, and the milk problem is not what to do, but how to get it done.

"The prevention of the infection of healthy children by tuberculous patients is largely the work of the doctor, and they are quite able to cope with this duty.

"The prevention of the infection of healthy children with tuberculous milk requires the active and willing cooperation of the dairymen, the milk dealer, the legislator, the health officer and the doctor. That these men of diverse interests may work together to enforce the pasteurization of milk; that is not from tuberculous herds requires the earnest endeavor of the organizations that have been formed to fight tuberculosis and the assistance of the pulpit and the press to create such well-informed public sentiment that it will be regarded as a crime to feed a child upon milk of doubtful origin unless it has been properly pasteurized."

Belief papers say that the residents of the Line City were real generous to Janesville on July fifth and spent ten thousand dollars here on that day. Good for Beloit.

Champlain had a fine lake named after him and three hundred years after he discovered it England, France and America united in paying tribute to his honor.

Hope springs in the breasts of Thaw's attorneys every time they make a new move in their efforts to free this young degenerate son of a millionaire mother.

Janesville businessmen are of the opinion today, when everything is considered, that they would like to celebrate the Fourth of July every year.

In Paris the famed Latin quarter is to vanish. However, the American quarter will continue to impress the waltzers who wander over to this country.

Evidently the work done by the Young Turks in Constantinople looked like the real goods to the Young Persians.

Turkey's deposed Sultan is to be placed on trial for his life. An adverse decision would create more widows than an ordinary battle.

Some men have not finished counting up their profits of last Monday yet and some celebrations have not yet been completed.

The Tucker divorce case is now out of the courts and the genial Colonel is again a "happy married man."

Some financiers would be content to limp along like Harriman if they could get there as fast as he does.

American millionaires appear to be much more successful on the French race track than on the Bourse.

Senator Aldrich can put no tariff on Janesville's high hopes for a most prosperous future.

 The modest cottage on the farm for city guys exerts a charm; through all one grinding days of toil, we're yearning for the virgin soil, the bucket hanging in the well, the humble meal of bread and milk,

 the grapes and honey dew as silk.

And when we reach the farmer's cot—
 the Mecca of our yearning thought, the honest farmer feeds us beans, and rank Bologna shipped from town, denatured milk to wash it down.

The moss-grown bucket in the well,
 the Johnnie-Jumpers in the dell,

the visions of a fevered brain; the fat

BRIEF SESSION OF BOARD OF REVIEW

Adjournment Was Taken Until Tomorrow Morning to Accommodate Rock River Machine Co.

The board of review, consisting of Mayor Clark, Attorney H. L. Maxfield, and City Clerk Roy Cummings, and the assessors, held a brief session at the city hall this morning and adjourned to meet at nine o'clock tomorrow morning and listen to sworn testimony regarding the Rock River Machine Co.'s inventory of materials and stock on hand. In this connection Atty. George G. Sutherland and Supl. A. A. Plinkh gave testimony before the board tending to show that there should be a reduction of the $2,400 personal property valuation and the assessments of $600 against lot 2, block 35, and $1,000 against the building and shanties. Mrs. Zeigler also appeared before the board and asked for a reduction in the assessments against lots 16 and 17, Partridge's addition.

WARSHIPS START MANEUVERS.

Thirteen in War Paint Assemble Off Cape Ann.

Rockport, Mass., July 8.—Garbed in the gray of war and equipped with tall fighting masts, 13 battleships of the North Atlantic squadron assembled off Cape Ann.

As the sun was setting this array of sea fighters, the largest since the world-eclipsing fleet dispersed at Hampton roads, started to the eastward to engage in maneuvers off the Massachusetts coast.

Later, other vessels will join those, and for the next four or five weeks intricate and extensive movements arranged by officials at Washington will be carried out. On Saturday the fleet is expected to put in appearance off Provincetown, which will be its base during the operations in northern waters.

WICKERSHAM TALKS ON TRUSTS.

Attorney General Would Let Nation Create Corporations.

Paducah, Ky., July 8.—State control of corporations doing an interstate business was discussed in an address before the State Bar association by George W. Wickersham, attorney general of the United States, in this city last night.

Of paramount importance because Mr. Wickersham gave complete treatment of the trust question as it appears to the present national administration, the address was notable chiefly by the recommendation that congress should enact a law providing for nationally created corporations to carry on interstate commerce.

Thaw Colony at White Plains.

White Plains, N. Y., July 8.—Miss Alice Thaw, former countess of Yarmouth, whose marriage with the English nobleman was annulled in London, has joined her mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw here, making quite a Thaw colony awaiting a decision in the matter of Harry K. Thaw's sanity. Besides the prisoner's mother and sister there are gathered here Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw and Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Thaw.

Indiana Railroad Man Dead.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—Eben Ryder, superintendent of the Chicago, Indiana & Southern railroad, died last night in a sanatorium, after an illness caused by a complication of diseases of more than a year.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

A HEFTY BABE.
 A lot of fuss was made over the birth of a princess to the royal house of Holland.

News dispatches tell how the heralds, accompanied by trumpeters clad in the ancient Dutch dress, made the rounds of the ancient city, halting in the principal squares, and then, after a flourish of the trumpets, made this proclamation:

"Fellow Citizens—With great joy we announce the news that her majesty by the grace of God has been delivered of a princess. Long live the queen! Long live the Princess of Orange!"

So anxious were the people over the announced advent of an heir to the throne of the Netherlands it is said few Hollanders slept that night.

Why so much anxiety over one child? But—

When one realizes that the birth of no child to the queen, who married Prince Henry in 1901, would have passed the throne at her death, to a German prince that is different.

The Germans understood the significance of the birth of this baby. And when the representatives of the German emperor conveyed to Queen Wilhelmina the assurances of Germany's well wishes over the birth of the child it was purely formal and without any heart in the words.

Germany is just as anxious for the control of the mouth of the river Rhine as were the Americans in 1914 early day for the control of the mouth of the Mississippi.

The Germans note with envy how the prosperous Dutch cities of Amsterdam and Rotterdam prosper commercially on the enormous traffic originating on the Rhine river.

And they keenly realize that if Queen Wilhelmina should die childless her nearest kin on the father's side would be a German prince. And he would be king of the Netherlands.

And—

On their side the Dutch fear absorption by Germany. They are afraid of the heavy taxes and the military service.

A literal prophecy faced by the Dutch on the night of April 20, 1900, and its fulfillment was that "a little child shall lead them."

This royal baby was doubtless just as red and just as ugly as any other newborn kid and cried as lustily. Physically that little of humanity does not yet weigh more than ten pounds.

Politically and commercially it weighs a ton.

WHEN THE TELEPHONE PATENT EXPIRES

there were only some 400,000 telephones in use in the whole United States, although the Bell company had been in operation some 20 years. Today there are over seven million telephones in use and by far THE GREATER NUMBER ARE OWNED BY INDEPENDENT COMPANIES. This shows what competition and fair rates have done for the people in ten years.

You can have a residence phone in your home for $1.00 per month.

MAY ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION OF NONESUCH BROS.

Enthusiasm Aroused on Monday May Leading to Placing of Amusement Enterprise on Permanent Basis.

Janesville's original, distinct, and unique Fourth of July feature may be established on a permanent basis if plans which are now under discussion materialize. It is suggested that the Nonesuch Brothers be organized into a big association, embracing in its membership all the amateur showmen who have ever pulled off a notable stunt in the big parade; that a barn or some suitable store-room be secured to accommodate the "cannon" and floats and other properties which now have to be built for each celebration and then dismantled, and that apartments be secured down town to serve as headquarters for a troupe of photographers, banners, ornaments, and other things which could be assembled without much trouble and which ought to be collected and preserved. Such a room would immediately become one of the show places of the city.

While there probably isn't any demand for another social club in the city, an organization of this kind, it is believed, could be kept up by having a few parties and other gatherings during the year and would serve a useful purpose both in stimulating interest in the big carnival and in securing careful preparation. The "Nonesuch Brothers," of course, would have to have a suitable badge or button of original design and the right to wear this emblem could easily be so restricted as to make the privilege a distinction and place a premium on originality, painstaking effort, and good taste in the floats and stunts.

That the burlesque circus parade is not "an old story" and can never grow stale and unprofitable as long as the proper amount of enthusiasm and effort are injected into the undertaking, was amply demonstrated last Monday, when, despite the threatening weather, Janesville welcomed the biggest throng that ever passed through its gates on a single day. Veteran spectators as well as the newcomers felt the same old thrill when the bands began to play and were completely in the spell of the big frolic and riot of color before the first six-horse team, or "Alakazam," with his rich draperies, poetry of motion, and dazzling smile, or the converted street car and its talented passengers, or the ridiculous baseball team, or the wonderful tribe of Silly Bull, or "Dr. Tilt" and his patients, or "Homey" in the heart of the jungle, or the elephant, camel, and cages had even hoven into view.

New Applicants for License: The common council having failed to grant George Clark a license for the saloon at 129 East Milwaukee street, adjoining the Myers theatre entrance, Michael Conley, who was bartender for Mr. Hoskins at the time the place was closed and James Boylan this morning filed their application for a permit to re-open the establishment. The mayor has not yet signed William H. Carroll's license.

Preferred to Go to Jail: Rather than promise to leave Janesville forthwith, Tom Rice, a hanger-on and thimble-shoe string merchant took an eight-day jail sentence in municipal court this morning. The man has been here about three weeks and sympathetic purchasers of his wares have enabled him to get gloriously drunk on several occasions. He told the judge that he had plenty of shoe strings to sell and couldn't think of leaving town.

WITH UGLY TRAMP

Officer Fanning And Ex-Alderman
Schmidley Figured in a Bloody Battle This Morning.

When Officer Patrick Fanning accosted a ragged, much bewhiskered tramp on High street, near the Milwaukee street intersection at an early hour this forenoon and called attention to the impropriety of the hobo's appearing on the streets in garments which did not cover his person, he was answered with a torrent of foul abuse. "You mind your own business! I'm not afraid of you policeman! You can't arrest me without a warrant!" were some of the remarks, coupled with oaths and indecent epithets, screamed out by the stranger.

The moment Officer Fanning laid hands on the fellow he began to fight and try to bite, and both the patrolman and Ex-Alderman Edward J. Schmidley, who heard the uproar and came to the patrolman's assistance, had their hands full handling Mr. Hobo into a meat-wagon driven by Emmet Murray and getting him to the city lock-up. There was another struggle when it came to unloading the passenger at the city hall and he fought the officers all the way into the lock-up. William Eaton was the name he finally gave and he also volunteered the information that his home was in Connecticut and that he hadn't done a day's work in two years. As the man was not intoxicated, his resistance must be attributed to pure cunningness and it will probably go hard with him in court.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"She has a pretty good opinion of herself," I heard one girl say sniggeringly of another.

It should have been a commendation rather than a sneer. Lack of self appreciation has probably done more harm than vanity ever did.

A knowledge of one's ability is absolutely necessary for success. And a tendency to overestimate one's powers is better than a tendency to underestimate them.

Conceit is not always a bad thing.

"That is—if it is of the 'I-am-clever-enough-to-do-anything-but-will-do-it-somehow' variety."

This is what a famous editor said of one of the greatest newspaper men in the country when a lesser light accused him of being conceited:

"Yes, he is conceited. And that is why he is such a great man. I wish I had more of the same sort of conceit on my staff. This is the way it works:

"Suppose I told you to go out and interview some public character who had already been interviewed a dozen times. You would say, 'Why, that's no sort of a story. That is a cub reporter's work.' You would go and do it simply because I told you to but you would write a story.

"Now if I told the man you call conceited to do the same thing his conceit would come into play in this wise:

"He would say to himself, 'In some way or other that I cannot fathom, this must be the most important story on the paper today or else I should not have been assigned to it. So I must make it a fine story.'"

"And then he would go and do it with all his might and he would make it a corking story."

To have such a high opinion of yourself that you are kept on tiptoe most of the time living up to it is a mighty good thing.

If you find at any time that you are saying to yourself, "I will not be to blame if I fail in this undertaking. I'm not very clever and I shall not be surprised if it is too much for me," right about face. And make an effort to somehow lay in a good healthy stock of self conceit.

The old Persian adage says:

"He who knows not and knows not that he knows not is a fool; shun him; he who knows not and knows that he knows not, is simple; teach him; he who knows and knows not that he knows, is asleep; wake him; he who knows and knows that he knows, is wise; follow him."

The palm of praise, you see, is given to the man who had what my friend of the sneer would probably called—"a pretty good opinion of himself."

Forty Years Ago

Jamesville Daily Gazette, July 8, 1869.—Runaway.—Yesterday afternoon as Deacon A. F. Antisdel was driving down the river road with a double team attached to a light carriage, the horses became frightened near the horse yard at Monterey. They became unmanageable and, turning suddenly, upset the carriage, throwing out all the occupants—Mr. Antisdel, wife, Miss Pettit and two children. They all escaped with slight bruises except Mr. Antisdel, who received very severe injuries about the head and shoulders. He was carried home unconscious and is confined to his bed yet, although he is much better today, and will probably be about in a few days.

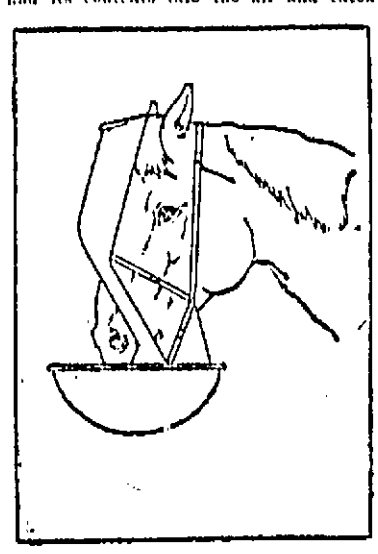

Haying.—The farmers are busy at work this fine weather securing the hay crop. There is a large growth of grass this season and it can be secured in good condition. It will take the place largely of coarse grain.

FOUNTAIN FEED BAG

A Constant Supply of Grain Always at the Animal's Mouth.

A great deal of ingenuity has been exercised by inventors in the direction of devising a feed bag which would be at the same time satisfactory to the owner and animal. To this end it must be portable and compact and must be of such a shape as will contain the grain within easy reach of the animal without loss by spilling. Almost everyone has noticed the painful efforts of the unfortunate horse which is compelled to take its meager meal in this manner. In order to get the feed the horse must thrust his head and its contents into the air and catch

RESERVOIR FOR THE FEED.

A mouthful as he can. Besides the industry he is compelled to exercise in the pursuit of his feed, the horse loses about half the grain by reason of the fact that it is thrown over the top of the bag.

The nose bag shown in the accompanying cut is of recent invention and is designed to overcome this trouble. The feed supply is contained in a reservoir which is secured to the bridle and is suspended between the animal's eyes. The feed flows down of its own weight into a saucer-like receptacle which is held under the animal's mouth. The feed is always in reach and there is no occasion for the throat gymnastics which are so commonly seen under the circumstances.

84 Years Successful History behind these

5% First Mortgage Bonds

The bonds are in $500 and $1,000 denominations, and are secured by all the property of a prosperous and growing Plow Manufacturing Company which has conducted a successful business since 1825.

The security includes valuable real estate in the center of a well-known city and other assets having a total valuation of almost five times the amount of the bonds.

The bonds are issued under our Serial Plan and mature in from one to fifteen years.

The earning capacity of the Company is an established fact, and the net annual earnings for the past five years have averaged more than ten times the maximum interest charge on these bonds and five times the average annual requirement for both principal and interest.

Inasmuch as the Company manufactures implements used in preparing the soil, and inasmuch as the soil must be prepared and the seed planted regularly, regardless of the harvest, the business of this Company is of the utmost uniformity and may be considered one of the most stable and reliable in existence.

The bonds are issued for the purpose of completing the Company's new plant, made necessary by its rapidly increasing business.

The Man From Brodney's

CHAPTER V.

THE granddaughter of Jack Wykeholme, attended by two maids, her husband and his valet, a clerk from the chambers of Rosworth, Nevins & Grapewin, a red cocker, seven trunks and a cardboard of novels, which she had been too busy to read at home, was the first of the bewildered legions to set foot upon the island of Japan.

She was very pretty, very smart and delightfully arrogant about a manner of her own.

Mr. Saunders was the polite but excessively middle class clerk who went out to keep the legal strings untangled for them. He was soon to discover that his duties were even more comprehensive.

It was he who saw to it that the luggage was transferred to the lighter which came out to the steamer when she dropped anchor off the town of Aradai, and he was who counted the pieces and hauled with the boatmen; it was he who carried off the boys refused to engage in the work; it was he who unfortunately dropped a suit case upon the hallowed tail of the red cocker, an accident which ever afterward gave him a tenacity of grip that no man could understand.

If Lady Deppingham expected a royal welcome from the inhabitants of Japan she was soon to discover her error. Not only was the pictured scene of welcome missing on the afternoon of her arrival, but an overpowering air of antipathy smote her in the face as she stepped from the lighter, conquest in her smile of conciliation. She glanced from right to left down the lines of swarthy islanders and saw nothing in their faces but stony, bitter unfriendliness. They stood stolidly, stoically at a distance, white robes lined with resentment personified.

Not a hand was lifted in assistance to the bewildered visitors; not a word, not a smile of encouragement escaped the lips of the silent throng.

"Is there no British agent here?" she demanded imperatively, perhaps a little more shrilly than usual.

No one deigned to answer. Glances of indifference, even scorn, passed among the silent lookers-on, but that was all.

"Does no one here understand the English language?" she demanded. "I don't mean you, Mr. Saunders," she added sharply as the little clerk set the suit case down abruptly and stepped forward, again fumbling his much fumbled straw hat. This was the moment when the red cocker's tail came to grief. The dog arose with an astonished yelp and fled to his mistress. He had never been so out of place as he was now.

Lord Deppingham, a slow and cumbersome young man, stood by nervously fingering his eyeglasses. For the first time he felt that the clerk was better than a confused dog after all.

"My dear," he said, waving Saunders into the background, "I think it was an accident. The dog had no business going to sleep." He paused and then said: "He paused and then said: 'Saunders is gone!'"

"Saunders?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

sorted his monoch for the purpose of looking up the precise spot where the accident had occurred.

"Oh, rubbish!" exclaimed her ladyship. "I suppose you expect the poor darling to apologize."

"All this has nothing to do with the case. We're more interested in learning where we are and where we are to go. Permit me to have a look about."

His wife stared after him in amazement as he walked over to the canvas awning in front of the low dock building, actually elbowing his way through a group of natives. Presently he came back, twisting his left mustache.

"The fellow in there says that the English agent is employed in the bank. He's straight up this street. By Jove! He called it a street, don't you know?" he exclaimed, disdaintfully eyeing the narrow, dusty passage ahead.

"There's the British flag, my lord, just ahead. See the building to the right, sir?" said Mr. Saunders, more respectfully than ever and with real gratitude in his heart.

"So it is! That's where he is. I wonder why he isn't down here to meet us?"

"Very likely he didn't know we were coming," said his wife lily.

"Well, we'll look him up. Come along, everybody. Oh, I say, we can't leave this luggage unguarded. They say these fellows are the worst robbers east of London."

It was finally decided, after a rather subdued discussion, that Mr. Saunders should proceed to the bank and report out the alibi representative of the British government. Saunders looked down the sullen line of faces and blanched to his toes.

"Tell him we'll wait for him," pursued his ladyship. "But remind him—him, that it's inexpressibly not down here in the sun!"

They stood and watched the miserable Saunders tremble gingerly up the filthy street, his knees creaking outwardly from time to time, very much as if he were contemplating an instantaneous sprint in any direction but the one he was taking. Even the placid Deppingham was somewhat disturbed by the ebullient glances that followed by the islanders as he passed by each separate knot of natives.

"I do hope Mr. Saunders will come back alive," murmured Bromley, her ladyship's maid. The others started, for she had voiced the general thought.

"He won't come back at all, Bromley, unless he comes back alive," said his ladyship, with a smile. It was a well known fact that he never smiled except when his mind was troubled.

"Goodness, Deppy," said his wife, recognizing the symptom, "do you really think there is danger?"

"My dear Aggy, who said there was any danger?" he exclaimed and quickly looked out to sea. "I rather think we'll enjoy it here," he added after a moment's pause, in which he saw that the steamer was getting under way. The Japan company's tug was returning to the pier. Lord Deppingham sighed and then drew forth his cigarette case. "There," he went on, peering intently up the street. "Saunders is gone!"

"Gone?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

"He's gone to the bank?" he asked, looking at the clerk. "He's gone to the bank," he added, scratching a match.

NIGHT RIDERS THREATEN.

Have Ropes and Bullets for Non-Association Members.

Madisonville, Ky., July 8.—A Madisonville newspaper is in receipt of a letter addressed from a camp of night riders at Princeton threatening tobacco growers in Hopkins county if they keep out of the association. It says: "Every man that stays out of the association in Hopkins county may depend on getting his back skinned and his stock to his barn. We want to say to any man that intends to buy tobacco in Hopkins county that we have got plenty of hemp rope and bullets and you may depend on having it used on you."
